

Sabu George, MD, FACC, General & Interventional Cardiology

Education and Training

- Board-certified in Interventional and Nuclear Cardiology
- Fellowship in Interventional Cardiology and General Cardiology, Hahnemann University Hospital, Philadelphia
- Residency, Hahnemann University Hospital
- Medical Degree, University of Jos, Nigeria

Dr. Sabu George has been practicing interventional cardiology since 2008. He joined Honesdale Cardiology in 2019. He is the Medical Director of the Heart and Vascular Center at Wayne Memorial Hospital, a state-of-the-art cardiac catheterization lab where he performs both diagnostic and therapeutic treatments, including Percutaneous Coronary Intervention (PCI) or angioplasty with stenting as well as diagnostic and interventional peripheral vascular procedures. Additionally, Dr. George offers Transesophageal Echocardiography, Nuclear Cardiac Scanning, implantation of heart monitoring devices, nuclear cardiac scanning, stress testing and Holter monitoring.