

Eric Rittenhouse, MD, FACOG, Obstetrics & Gynecology

Education and Training

- Board Certified Obstetrician/Gynecologist
- Doctor of Medicine Degree, Jefferson Medical College of Thomas Jefferson University, Philadelphia, PA
- Residency in OB/GYN at York Hospital, York, PA

As an obstetrician/gynecologist Dr. Eric Rittenhouse treats women across the lifespan, from the teen years to maternity care to the post-menopausal phase. He specializes in pelvic floor and bladder control procedures for the treatment of female incontinence.

Dr. Rittenhouse has been practicing since 1995. He spent the majority of his career in private practice at Lehigh Valley Women's Medical Specialties, Allentown, PA. He held the positions of Medical Director of Sacred Heart Hospital's OB/GYN Clinic as well as Chairman for the Department of OB/GYN. He was also the Section Chief of OB/GYN in St. Luke's Hospital - Allentown campus. He joined Wayne Memorial Community Health Centers in 2019.