Here for Your Health!

"I couldn't feel my left leg... and I'm darn happy I'm here now and wouldn't be if it hadn't been for this hospital, Wayne Memorial."

Stroke Survivor Gerald Hessling, Honesdale

"Last summer I had a heart attack, but I almost didn't go to the hospital. I thought it was only reflux. My husband convinced me it was more serious. And I'm glad he did! We went to Wayne Memorial Hospital, where the heart team immediately went into action. I put my life in their hands—and they saved me!"

Heart Attack Survivor Diane Shelp, Lake Ariel

"I was pinned to the wall with a crushing sensation in my chest. The team at Wayne Memorial— Dr. McVeigh, the hospitalists and the nurses—they were phenomenal. They helped me recover from this with all they had."

COVID Survivor Scott Walck, Lake Ariel

WAYNE MEMORIAL
HEALTH
FOUNDATION

The Wayne Memorial Health Foundation is dedicated to assuring the future of Wayne Memorial Hospital, which has deep roots in the community. The first hospital opened in 1920 as a memorial to local troops who lost their lives in World War I. Community members raised the funds to renovate the building and pay the staff. Community members served on the board and helped steer the organization. In the years since, Wayne Memorial has evolved right alongside tremendous advances in medicine and significant growth in the area's population. What started as a one building hospital is now a health system with more than a dozen locations in four counties.

Our medical staff now encompasses close to 300 health professionals in more than 30 specialties. We have a birthing suite, a skilled nursing facility, rehabilitation therapies, a cardiac catheterization laboratory, increased inpatient services and upgraded technology.

Yet Wayne Memorial's commitment and connection to the community remain the same.

We are here for each other.

It's what the Foundation, established in 1981, is all about: raising funds to help ensure the community's health needs are met today, tomorrow and for generations to come.
